

Biodata: Hanan Khaled, Kara Mac Donald, Tarek Elgendy, Onsy Shenouda, & Aziza Ghanim

Hanan Khaled, Department Chair of Basic and Post Basic Language Programs, has focused the twenty years of her experience on the development and support of educational initiatives in foreign language teacher professional development, curriculum development, assessment and integration of technology. She earned a Masters in Foreign Language Teaching and a Doctorate in Curriculum and Instruction.

Kara Mac Donald is an Associate Professor at the Defense Language Institute, Monterey, CA. Her background consists of twenty-five years in foreign language teaching, teacher training, and faculty development across elementary, secondary and higher education. She earned a Masters in Applied Linguistics, TESOL and a Doctorate in Applied Linguistics.

Tarek Elgendy is an Associate Professor at the Defense Language Institute, Monterey, CA. His background consists of thirty-nine years in foreign language teaching, curriculum development, and teacher training. He earned a Master's Degree in Teaching a Foreign Language, a second in Public Administration and a third in Vocational Translation.

Onsy Shenouda is an Associate Professor at the Defense Language Institute, Monterey, CA. His background consists of twenty-seven years in foreign language teaching, Department Chair of Basic Language Program, curriculum development, and faculty development specialist. He earned a Bachelor of Science in Pedagogy and a Master's degree in Instructional Technology.

Aziza Ghanim is an Associate Professor at DLI-FLC. Her background consists of thirty-five years in foreign language teaching, teacher training, Department Chairperson, curriculum development, and Diagnostic Assessment. She earned an M.A in TESOL from Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey.

