

Biodata: Cara Wilson-Armour

Cara Wilson-Armour is a high school English teacher at Tulsa Public Schools. Her work focuses on designing effective blended learning platforms for both K12 and higher education.

She previously taught English courses for Tulsa Community College, Three Rivers College, Southern Illinois University, and Southeast Missouri State University. From 2017-2018, Dr. Wilson-Armour was an assistant professor in the Early Childhood Education department at Woosong University in Daejeon, South Korea.

She holds a doctorate from Southern Illinois University, an MA from Southeastern Missouri State University, and a BA from University of Missouri Kansas City.